Directory of Service Stations that Sell Ethanol-Blended Gasoline

U.S. DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Subject: Use of Ethanol-Blended Fuel

To: All Employees

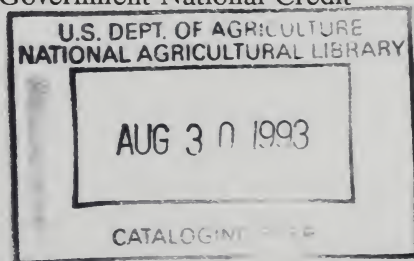

The U.S. Department of Agriculture is encouraging the use of ethanol-blended fuel because it increases the use of a domestically grown renewable resource, reduces our dependence on foreign oil, and enhances environmental quality.

The Secretary's Memorandum, 5400-6, Use of Ethanol-Blended Oxygenated Fuels in USDA Highway Vehicles, requires Department employees to use ethanol blends in USDA owned and leased vehicles whenever available and the price is competitive. The Secretary also encourages employees to use ethanol blends (gasohol) in their personal vehicles.

Competitive pricing is seldom a problem because ethanol-blended gasoline is often the lowest priced in town! However, finding the service stations that sell ethanol blends and accept the U.S. Government National Credit Card is frequently a problem.

This publication is an attempt at providing you with assistance in locating stations which are likely to sell ethanol-blended fuel and which will accept government credit cards. The data on companies selling blended fuel was supplied by the Society of Independent Gasoline Marketers of America (SIGMA), the State Corn Growers Associations, and the USDA Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) field offices.

The directory lists companies/gas stations selling ethanol-blended fuel by (1) state; (2) grade(s) of ethanol and stations where it is sold and their general locations; and (3) companies selling the indicated grade(s) of ethanol; e.g., in Alabama, all Crown stations blend ethanol in all grades of their gasoline. For additional reference, companies/gas stations accepting the Government National Credit Card are identified by an asterisk.

To identify other stations selling ethanol-blended gasoline, look for a label on the pump that will say that the gasoline contains ethanol or gasohol. Please keep this list in your personal and government vehicle(s) so that you can identify stations likely to sell ethanol-blended gasoline when you are traveling.

We plan to update this listing on a periodic basis. We need your help to keep this listing current and to add to it for the following reasons:

- A. Companies change their policy on blending and accepting credit cards.
- B. Distributors may blend in some locations and not in others.
- C. Different companies have different policies on using and blending the same brand.
- D. As a traveler, you will become aware of the changes in the availability of ethanol-blended fuels and the gasoline companies' policies regarding acceptance of credit cards before we will, and it is important that we update the list as rapidly as possible.

You can help us by sending additions/deletions to: Personal Property Management Division, Office of Operations, USDA, Room 1520-S, 14th and Independence Ave, S.W., Washington, D.C. 20250. You may also call (202) 720-9778, or fax the information to us at (202) 720-3747.

INTRODUCTION

More than 81,000 owned, commercially leased, or General Services Administration (GSA) rented motor vehicles make up the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) motor vehicle fleet. These vehicles are operated by 14 agencies/offices in approximately 9,000 locations throughout the United States and its Territories as well as 52 foreign countries.

The Department's employees travel some 504 million miles and consume about 28 million gallons of fuel annually on government business, while the federal government as a whole uses more than 285 million gallons of fuel annually for more than half a million vehicles.

Access to this huge market by companies selling ethanol blends has been limited, however, because gasoline for government vehicles must be paid for by the U.S. Government National Credit Card, and only a few of the companies selling ethanol blends accept this card.

Against this backdrop, the USDA Secretary started an initiative requiring the use of 10 percent ethanol-blended fuel on all USDA owned and leased vehicles when available at prices comparable to regular unleaded gasoline. This is to reinforce the effort to enhance the nation's environmental quality and use of alternative fuels brought about by a series of declarations:

1. The President's Executive Order concerning Federal Energy Management which requires federal agencies to develop plans to reduce motor vehicle gasoline and diesel fuel consumption by at least 10 percent by 1995 (in comparison with 1991) and allows credit for the use of alternative fuels toward this 10 percent reduction.

2. The Defense Appropriation Act for 1992 which requires that the Department of Defense buy 10 percent of domestically produced alcohol blends in any case where the price is the same or lower than that of unleaded gasoline; and
3. The "Sense of Congress" paragraph added to the Defense Appropriation Act stating that "... wherever any motor vehicle capable of operating on gasoline or alcohol-gasoline blends that is owned or operated by the Department of Defense or any other department or agency of the Federal government is refueled, it shall be refueled with an alcohol-gasoline blend containing at least 10 percent domestically produced alcohol if available along the normal travel route of the vehicle at the same or lower price than unleaded gasoline."

To this end, the USDA has taken the lead by developing a program that would increase the use of ethanol-blended fuel in USDA and other government vehicles through:

- An increase in the number of companies which accept the U.S. Government National Credit Card;

- Establishment of a program to increase availability of ethanol by encouraging additional companies to sell blended gasoline; and
- Maintenance of a liaison role with government and industry organizations, such as SIGMA and the Governors Ethanol Coalition, which support the increased use of ethanol.

Furthermore, the Secretary of Agriculture has written the Administrator of GSA to request that the use of ethanol-blended fuel be made mandatory in all government vehicles, when practical and cost effective.

"The Directory of Service Stations that Sell Ethanol-Blended Gasoline" is published in support of these goals.
